ST. JOHNS, A. T. THURSDAY.

LOCAL NEWS.

P. O. Seekers.—All who want a post-office will please hold up their hands.

Portraits.—The St. Louis Globe Democrat publishes two portraits of Adeline Patti, the first from a daguerreotype, labeled "Patti at eight," and the other from a recent photograph—"Patti at—at—Present."

The New Jail.—Work on the jail has commenced in good earnest. The front and side walls and heavy stone flooring are all in place. The cells and partition walls are now being constructed—after they are completed the rear wall will be put up. Two more weeks time will show a building nearly if not quite complete.

Runaway.—Jesse N. Smith, of Snowflake, President of the Eastern Arizona Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and a polygamist Mormon of the deepest dye, has packed his grip-sack and joined the army of saints who are fleeing from justice. Jesse will never again disgrace Arizona with his immoral presence.

Skating Rink.—St. Johns people have caught the "Rink" distemper on the first bounce, and have got hold of it bad. A club is being organized, with Harry Silver as president and treasurer, the first honor was conferred because of his executive ability, or ability in execution, and the last was to see him "skate" off with the swag.

Improvements.—Mr. Roman Lopez will commence at once to build upon and generally improve the property known as the Stock Exchange Hotel materially increasing its capacity to accommodate the public. The grounds surrounding the building are being planted with fruit and ornamental trees.

Departed.—Mrs. George A. McCarter with the two charming little ones left on Tuesday last, on a visit to Mrs. McCarter's parents in Kansas. We heartily wish them a pleasant journey and safe return in the near future. Darling little Katie will be missed greatly by all her playmates, and husband and father will be almost inconsolable till the flight of time shall bring the promise of early reunion.

Arrival.—Mr. Nathan Barth came in town on Monday last bringing with him his nephew, Jacob son of the late Morris Barth. Mr. Barth informs us that he is now establishing a branch store at Hardy, a station on the A. & P. railroad, for the sale of general merchandise. He will also place upon the range in the vicinity a large number of cattle and sheep. Enterprise so well directed must meet with a rich reward.

Returned.—We are glad to record the return to his home of our distinguished townsman T. S. Bunch Esq., who came with Mrs. Bunch and their two children on Monday last. Mr. Bunch and his family are in excellent health and express their utmost satisfaction in again reaching the land of sunshine days and starlit nights, to their home in the mountains where the air is pure as the snow that crowns the mountain peaks and the spirit as joyous as the songs of the birds in our midst.

Industry.—The farmer is everywhere in the district at work turning over soil and preparing it for the seasons crops. Many pieces of new ground will be broken up this Spring and hundreds of acres made cultivable by the abundant supply of water from the new irrigating canal will show the wealth of the soil. Before another year rolls around every acre of the four thousand will team with life; with handsome cottages, and a happy, happy people will occupy them all. Industry will be the rule, and success will be the result.

Acts Passed.—Certified copies of the following acts passed by the last legislature have been received by Mr. Alfred Ruiz, County Recorder and Clerk of the District and County Courts, viz: An act—To create and establish a county court in the county of Apache, in the territory of Arizona, define the jurisdiction and prescribe the procedure thereof, to abolish the probate court, provide for the transfer of the jurisdiction to the county court and for other matters incidental thereto and connected therewith. An act—To create the office of County Assessor, to make the county Treasurer, ex-officio tax collector and to prescribe the duties and salaries of certain county officers in the county of Apache.

Judge Howard.—Judge Sumner Howard is occupying his court vacation by making a visit to his old home with his family. The citizens of his judicial district in Arizona will necessarily feel a degree of uneasiness for his safety while away from them, and special anxiety for his return; renewed and strengthened in vital power for the performance of his responsible duties. The public confidence in his judgment and justice has not abated one iota, but the wisdom of his judicial action has been demonstrated and affirmed by the verdict of a universally popular acceptance. When a change of the national administration was made manifest, the people of Arizona feared that the services of this eminent Judge would be lost to them, but happily the indications from the Executive are such that where peculiar fitness is exhibited and worth established to properly fill the position with honor to the government, in a wise interpretation of its laws, the term of service of such officer should remain unmolested.

The Irrigating Ditch.—But thirty days have elapsed since ground was broken for the great irrigating ditch and within the next four days four miles of it will be entirely completed, and ready with an abundant water to amply supply all the irrigable land in its course. We were conducted along the whole line of the canal during the earlier part of the week, and had an opportunity of personally inspecting the work, and viewing the country to be cultivated. No greater enterprise could have been promoted. It will fill the valley with an industrious and thriving people—of producers and consumers—it will give an impetus to trade in all its branches. To the mechanic and the laborer it will be a boon.

Democratic Mormons.—Stevens' polygamy bill, which passed both houses of the legislature, and has been signed by the governor, will have a tendency to make this territory republican, as Mormons always vote the democratic ticket. [Tombstone Epitaph. Hold up a little, perhaps the legend cut on that slab will bear revision; Mormons don't always vote the democratic ticket—circumstances with them alter cases—their political creed is akin to that expressed by a fresh arrival from the old sod. He's "agin the government," and its institutions, against the laws and its authority. He votes as he is directed by the only power which he acknowledges; he votes, and in all things acts and moves in accord with the dictum of a domineering priesthood; he is without independent or personal assertion, without liberty, a slave to impudent assumption of power.

Unhappy Hal.—Our friend "Hal" of Flagstaff, is in agony because their is nothing happening in his mountain home worthy a passing note. Go for old man Hoxworth; put a tin gutter under his chin to catch the ruby currents that may flow, during the contest, from his arabian nostrils; lock Dykes up in his iron-bound corral; knock Sam King into forgetfulness of the happiness that awaits him; explode a few dynamite caps in Middleton and Hill's armory; tickle Cornish with praises of his beautiful depot buildings; get up a row in Judge Coakley's court; bull-doze postmaster Kilpatrick and call upon him to surrender to some other republican with greater democratic possibilities; celebrate the anniversary of Johnny Berry's wedding; fire Jim Vail with pyrotechnic fervor; call a democratic mass meeting and appoint Dr. Brannen to tell how it was in the legislature; get up an opposition convention and appoint Stewart to orate how it was'n't; go for Daggs and Clark's brewery and fill up with dutch courage; then tell the horrible story of their "slaughtered lambs". Peter J. Brannen is a fine subject for art notes; his extraordinary lineaments will fill a page in the book of beauty and as you journey to the east make a note on the festive Miller, the eminent disciple of Blackstone, in your city; stop a while with sedate Hawks and the sedate Newell and by this time you will have enough matter to engage your quill for the next decade. Be of good cheer Hal; "the woods is full" of subjects as your mountains are full of tress. The wagon road to the Verde; the possible Mineral Belt; the big mill and the millions of feet of sawed lumber to be turned out when the snow shall have melted, will give life, vigor, power and prosperity to Flagstaff.

The Pechner Banquet.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Pechner entertained their friends on the evening of the 29th instant to a genuine house warming, of the style prevailing among our forefathers somewhere during the earlier part of the century. Invitations were handsomely gotten up on old-fashioned gold-edged paper, until the stationery gave out, then couriers were dispatched with messages of love and peace to all the people to unite with and enjoy the blessings of the hour at their newly build and handsomely furnished home. At early candle-light the people began to fill the streets and avenues leading to the Pechner mansion. The merry voices of the moving masses as they passed gave assurance that all were prepared for a season of blissful abandon. As of old, every mother had her baby in its pure white wraps and with a mother's pride gloried in giving to her offspring her personal care. The large rooms were all opened for the use and comfort of the guests, and though crowded to the utmost, the arrangements were so perfect that all enjoyed perfect freedom of action. The tables in the banquet hall were laden with exquisite delicacies, in conformity with the past—cakes, pies, sweet-meats, nuts, raisins, sandwiches, pickles, and the ever memorable 'short cake,' smoked beef, cheese cut in perfect cubes, and all prepared by the good house-wife. It made us feel as if we were a boy again, and that is feeling a long way back. The company consisting of judges, lawyers, physicians, and their wives, and children; of clergymen, and experts in the mechanics art, the man of commerce, the daily toiler for bread, and the more comfortable son of fortune who is supported by his wealth in this worlds goods, were all alike cared for by the genial host and hostess. Long life and happiness to our friends in their new and elegant quarters. They ought themselves be happy for they possess the quality of making others supremely so.

Road to Navajo.—As soon as the vacancies of the road board are filled by the Governor, an engineer will be placed on the line to mark out a better route between St. Johns and Navajo. The present road is in many places sandy and hilly and a new line can be found that will avoid much that now retards the rapid transit of the mails.

Phonetic Spelling.—A letter, undoubtedly written by a Mormon, is held for postage at the St. Johns postoffice. We are sorry our Greek font of type is out of order or we would be able to give the address with all its characteristics, however, we print as near a fac-simile copy as possible:

miStar priSidan
gohn taler, Esq.
sout lake,
you Tor.

in Hast.
The assertion of the writer "in Hast" is evident from the fact that he omitted the required two-cent postage stamp. If some good Mormon does not come to the aid of this afflicted brother, the ever-important missive will fall in that sleep that knows no waking. Go down in your pocket, Milner, and fish out a postage stamp.

The "culled" troops who have been ordered to Whipple Barracks, and who are now en route, are said to be citizens of the toughest character. From all reports they are sweeping everything before them on the road here, having no regard whatever for law or order. If their actions continue after their arrival in Prescott it is more than probable that some of them will be sent to join those who have gone before. Prescott has no use for such characters. [Prescott Journal.

You are wrong, honey, any community that could stand the Bloody 13th Chivalry for sixty days is more than a match for all the "culled" troops this side of Hades, and need have no fear of local disturbances. It is well known by all military commanders that in camp there are no more orderly or easier governed enlisted men than the "culled" soldiers.

Mr. Charles Sperry, of Winslow, is in town.

Our Mr. Harry Lyons will visit Holbrook during the week.

The weather is so fine that it fills the streets with the lovers of sunshine.

The Apache County Stock Growers' Association will meet at St. Johns next Tuesday April 7th.

The Board of Supervisors meet next Monday April 6th, proceedings of which will be published in our next issue.

Ebin Stanley, of Springerville, was in the city Tuesday attending to business before the clerk of the District Court.

Its rolling very rocky when it is said that a St. John's young lady has traded her engagement ring for a pair of roller skates.

Apache county residents are not kicking much against the actions of the last Legislature. They did not require much and are not disappointed.

"All men are liars," said David of old. He was probably prompted to make the above remark after reading some of Milner's articles in defense of Mormonism.
